REPORT OF SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS TO THE HOLDERNESS SCHOOL BOARD

I take pleasure in presenting my first annual school report. My duties as superintendent of your schools began the first of last August. When I assumed my duties, the yearly budget had been made, the programs of studies for the various schools had been adopted, and the teachers had all been engaged. Consequently in the main I have carried out the plans formed previous to my arrival. Now and then some things have changed to meet the conditions of the present year.

The newly organized supervisory union consists of six towns namely, Ashland, Bridgewater, Groton, Holderness, Hebron and New Hampton. Since I have been on the job I have managed to become acquainted with the geography of the various districts, with the school boards, the six groups of teachers and scholars. I have observed and studied the social, economic, and educational factors of the communities over which my duties extend.

In the course of this report I endeavor to give you an account of my activities, investigations, conclusions drawn, and suggestions and recommendations for improvements.

I have secured and furnished text-books, and supplies for the teachers and janitors. I have visited schools frequently, and helped teachers with their class room problems. Teachers' meetings have been called in order to discuss our problems as a group. I have done all my office work without clerical assistance. I have attended board meetings no less than once a month in each of the six towns in the supervisory union. I have spoken in the interest of the schools before various organizations in the different towns. These statements are made to give the reader some conception of the way in which the superintendent uses his time.

A Study of Retardation, Acceleration, and Normal Progress of the Holderness School Children

I have asked the teachers of Holderness to make out age-grade tables of this year's enrollment of pupils. I have used these tables to make a study of the school progress of children, from the point of view of yearly promotion. All the children who have made one grade a year for the number of years they have been in school, I have considered as having made normal progress. The ones who have skipped grades are considered accelerated, and the ones who have had to repeat have been classified as retarded. The table given below which I have prepared from the data collected tells its own story.

Table Showing Retardation, Acceleration, and Normal Progress of the Holderness School Children

School	Retarded	Accelerated	Progress Normal	Total
East Holderness	3	5	4	12
Elm School	18	0	14	32
Carr School	6	0	7	13
Bridge School	0	0	19	19
Totals	27	5	44	76

A word in regard to the interpretation of the above figures. The usual percentage of retarded, accelerated and normal progress of school children throughout the country for every one hundred pupils is as follows: twenty-two per cent retarded, eighteen per cent accelerated, and sixty per cent normal progress. The Holderness children show up as follows: thirty-five per cent retarded, six per cent accelerated, fifty-nine per cent normal progress. The reader may draw his own conclusion.

During the fall term intelligence tests were given by the teachers under my direction in all the grades. The tests were given with a twofold purpose, to find out what we have to do with, in the way of natural ability, and to see if lack of school progress is due to lack of ability or other causes. We find that out of twenty-seven pupils who are retarded one or more years in school progress, sixteen are somewhat below par in natural ability, and it is not surprising to find them backward. The other eleven under normal conditions should be doing passing work, and be up to grade. There are many reasons why children often fail to make normal progress. Unsatisfactory home conditions, poor home training, continued absence, poor teaching, sickness, lack of guidance, failure to fit the school to the capacities and needs of the child, all play a part. Let us eliminate as many of these causes as we can.

The following statistical account of the Holderness schools for the year 1928-1929 is of interest.

Bridge School: Teacher, Persis L. Doe; number of pupils twenty; half days in session 354; per cent of attendance 95; number of tardinesses 5; number of visits by citizens 20; number of visits by school board 1; number of visits by superintendent 20.

Elm School: Teacher, Mary Clement; number of pupils 32; half days in session 356; per cent of attendance 94.56; number of tardinesses 51; number of visits by citizens 34; number of visits by school board 4; number of visits by superintendent 28.

Carr School: Teacher, Edith Ladd; number of pupils 25; half days in session 344; per cent of attendance 88.47; number of tardinesses 98; number of visits by citizens 57; number of visits by school board 3; number of visits by superintendent 18.

True School: Teacher, Edith Robie; number of pupils 3; half days in session 248; per cent of attendance 98; number of tardinesses 2; number of visits by citizens 52; number of visits by school board 5; number of visits by superintendent 9.

East Holderness School: Teacher, Nina Taylor; number of pupils 8; half days in session 354; per cent of attendance 97; number of tardinesses 29; number of visits by citizens 54; number of visits by school board 2; number of visits by superintendent 16.

The following pupils from the schools indicated as given below attained the distinction of perfect attendance for the year 1928-1929, and are awarded honorable mention in this public document. Carr School: Ralph Greenleaf; East Holderness School, Delivan D. Taylor; Creta Mary Taylor.

Other Items of Interest

The problem of providing the Bridge and the Elm schools with independent water supplies nearer at hand has not been solved yet. The school district should find a solution as soon as feasible.

The Elm school has recently been provided with electric lights. This now makes all the Holderness schools electrically equipped. The advantages to be derived are self evident.

The yard of the Carr school has been newly fenced.

The slide which used to be at the True school has been moved to the grounds of the Bridge school, since the True school has not been in use.

Through the efforts of the teacher and pupils a new slide has been secured for the East Holderness school

The school board is to be commended for their interest in the physical activities of the children. The old saying "a healthy mind in a healthy body" is just as true today as ever. Baseball bats, baseballs, soccer balls, and other playground apparatus have been furnished to the schools during the present year. This policy should be continued to the extent of developing good playgrounds for every school. The outdoor exercises and the lessons learned on well supervised playgrounds will make for well behaved children in the school room, and useful and happy citizens in the community.

This year for the first time we have asked the children's parents to be present at the time of the medical examination, in order that the parents might have an opportunity for a personal consultation concerning their children with the doctor. Very few took advantage of this chance. Too much cannot be said about the physical welfare of children. We should follow the philosophy that an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure. Defective teeth, adenoids, tonsils, poor eye sight, and so forth, keep the child from achieving his highest mental and physical development. A word to the wise is sufficient.

In Conclusion

We have arrived at a point in American life when any one without at least a high school education, will be at a great disadvantage in his struggle for a living, and in his enjoyment of the institutions of life. Considering the number of children in our elementary schools, there should be a greater number of Holderness children attending high school. We hope that parents will use their influence for this worthy cause.

Judging from the interest which the school board take in the educational welfare of the town, the efforts made to retain good teachers, the financial support which the community extends to the schools, Holderness is contributing its share to the present and future happiness of its young people.

Holderness has great possibilities for development in the way of agriculture, fruit growing, as a summer resort, and in other ways. If we develop an educational system in keeping with these possibilities, the schools will contribute greatly toward attracting ambitious, and energetic people to settle here, and transform this little community into a greater center of human activity.

This is all I am ready to say at this writing, five months after I am on the job. I am aware of a few elementary and secondary school problems facing the community. I am leaving these problems for further consideration. In due time I shall submit before the school district, through the school board, the results of my continued study, investigations, and observations, with my suggestions to raise the Holderness school system to a higher level.

Respectfully submitted,

VINCENT GATTO,
Superintendent of Schools.
